Xlibris. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 84 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.2in. The real life skeleton of a hybrid EThuman was found in 1930 by a young Amerindian girl in a cave in Chihuahua, Mexico. The find was rather dramatic. An adult womans skeleton was found on the ground. Sticking out of the ground from a shallow grave was the exposed skeleton of the hand and arm of a small boy, holding onto the womans hand. Twenty first century DNA testing and radio carbon dating showed that the woman was not his mother; she was a caretaker of some sort. He has a super lightweight bone structure, somewhat avian in nature, with non human elements including some kind of super strong fiber web system. This is a fictional tale of who Starboy was, who his caretaker was, and what on earth he was doing here. Local native lore has it that star people come and impregnate women, leave, and then come back for them. Starboy has a lesson to all that just because somebody looks different doesnt mean you should hate them. You never know what they might do for an entire society, like bringing them from primitive status to among the most advanced societies in the world. If only they had embraced him instead of hating him. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg, OR, La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
