Not illustrated. 1886 Excerpt: . it is hoped, extend our membership over the whole county. Our aim is to maintain the level of our county upon a plane demanded by the advancing spirit of the age. In the language of Article II of the Constitution: The objects of the Association are to secure a due proportion of growing trees in Delaware County, measured not by acreage, but by population; to encourage the production and planting of choice species and varieties; to disseminate information relative to best methods of culture; to insure the instruction of the children of the public schools in practical knowledge concerning trees and their insect enemies; to keep ourselves well informed of the evils resulting from denudation, and the benefits derived from the judicious planting and preservation of forest and shade trees, and to help to secure the enactment by the Legislature of such laws as may be needed for the general welfare, in the interests of Forestry. At the meeting for the adoption of a Constitution for the Delaware County Forestry Association, Dr. I. N. Kerlin was called to the chair. Letters expressing sympathy with the movement from various persons in Delaware and adjoining counties were read. W. W. Montgomery, of Radnor, addressed the meeting on the general question of Forestry, and was heard with attention. Miss Lewis read an address calling attention to branches of maple cut from trees on the streets of Media, with numerous cocoons of the insect popularly known as the basket...
