Copper Canyon Press, 2003. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 185 x 132 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. I think every person needs to own this book. --Naomi Shihab Nye Braided Creek contains more than 300 poems exchanged in this longstanding correspondence. Wise, wry, and penetrating, the poems touch upon numerous subjects, from the natural world to the nature of time. Harrison and Kooser decided to remain silent over who wrote which poem, allowing their voices, ideas, and images to swirl and merge into this remarkable suite of lyrics. Each time I go outside the world is different. This has happened all my life. * The moon put her hand over my mouth and told me to shut up and watch. * A nephew rubs the sore feet of his aunt, and the rope that lifts us all toward grace creaks on the pulley. * Under the storyteller s hat are many heads, all troubled. These little gems prove that less is often more. -- Library Journal There are poems on the natural world, aging, dying, friendship, love and eros. There is abundant humor. There also is distilled wisdom. -- Houston Chronicle So what we have here is a small book of finely etched verse by two experienced poets. It is something that many readers will want to carry around with them and dip into on occasion. Braided Creek is a vademecum or field guide for the soul. -- Bloomsbury Review Both Harrison and Kooser show a coming of wisdom with time. Kooser has been diagnosed with cancer, which may in part account for the intensity of the language and the sweeping philosophical stance of these quiet poems by two gifted men. -- Rocky Mountain News Here s a book of glorious, intimate tidbits. filled with such small yet expansive...
