This book is a detailed narrative about the journey of a family through the centuries. It begins with the author's DNA test results, plus genealogy records, linking him to his earliest documented paternal ancestors a thousand years ago in 1033 AD. The story of Raphael DiPodio, also known as Raphael DuPui, who was the commander of the Roman Holy Empire Calvary is highlighted. Continued with the story of his descendants, among them Raymond DuPui who was Grand Master of the Knights of Malta, and a veteran of the Crusades. Another branch of the family highlighted is the Pons of Toulouse, narrating the remarkable life and adventures of Raymond Pons VI Count of Toulouse in the early 1200s. His struggles against the Roman Catholic Church are told in graphic fashion. Other lineage explored in this part of the book is the Urgell line, as in the controversial Count of Urgell, a man who should have been King of Spain in 1409, but instead ended up imprisoned in a dungeon. Finally, the book ties in the last two remaining DNA test results with lineages from Germany and Finland. Next, the book explores the author's maternal family's stories. This is a remarkable telling of overcoming obstacles, of dramatic deaths, of lost chances, of struggles against dictatorships, and ultimately of endless and true love. Stories like the Great-Grandfather, a Spanish soldier who upon landing in Cuba as part of the colonial Spanish forces sent to crush a rebellion falls in love with a local Cuban girl. This is followed by the Grandfather's remarkable life, first as a rebel against the Machado dictatorship, and later as a policeman,...
